

WingCommander-Kite compatibility check

If you want to use your kite for kiteboating with the WingCommander kite-control-system, you have to find out, whether it is compatible directly. Check the length of the lines of your original kite bar, which came with your kite.

If all lines are the same length, you can use your kite without any changes. If front- and backlines are not the same length, you have to adjust your kite with the Wingit kite-line-extensions. It is very easy and takes you less than one minute. If you want to refit your Kite with the original Kite bar, simply remove the extension lines. Ask your dealer for the extension set or buy it online at www.kite-boat-systems.com.